Dear Sir, 568-19-81

I beg to report that the walls of the Ramamanghat Chattram are completed and the work of plastering is going on. The work of the roofing remains to be done.

We expected first that the old building would yield beams worthy of being used for the new construction, but to our great regret all the timber beams are altogether rotten & rendered useless. I have therefore bought joists worth about Rs 350/- today and will proceed with the work as carefully as possible. The length and breadth of the new building is double of what is mentioned in the estimate and the plan. The new building of one story presents an attractive picture and is very convenient for Brahman feeding as well as for Harikatha etc.

I beg to add further that the big house on the Ganges side got cracked from long time and fell down inside owing to the recent recent heavy rains and the Ganges flood and the aspect became dangerous. The Municipality took steps in the question and sent me directions to remove the dangerous portions in order to avoid any loss of life by a sudden & unexpected fall. I am taking every steps in removing the dangerous parts and in dismantling the materials. I wrote to you before that this dismantling will cost about one thousand rupees. At present it is already spent about Rs 500/- in dismantling. The roofs of the Ganges sides building are removed & the walls of the first flour which are strong are standing. My request is if the big windows are opend in the walls on the Ganges side and new beams are bought to roof these walls they will afford nice rooms for respectable visitors. If His Highness the Maharajah graces Benares that place will be very convinient for worshipping & bathing at Hanuman ghat. They will require the cost simply of beams, wages plastering and windows etc. It will be a lasting building. Please bring the matter to His Highness the Maharaja's

Last time when You were at Benares you spoke to me regarding the disposal of the Old Chattram building of Panchganga ghat I am trying since then to have it disposed but the detteration of the building in a small lane prevent it being yet remained unsold, but I have to inform you that I have received an offer now for it The person who wants to buy it offers me Rs 3000/- (three thousand) but I have asked him that if you offer me Rs 4000/- I shall try my best to get sanction If the purchaser declines this amount and agrees to pay between 3 & 4 thousand May I sell it, please write to me

The Ramnaughat building on the Ganges require repairs very badly & it requires the recent heavy rain have done fresh to the said building & if it is not repaired soon more damages are anticipated.
